

INGENII

Total Control of Fleet Expenses

The smart solution that revolutionizes the financial management of your business fleet

The Problem

Companies with fleets face scattered operating expenses that include fuel, tolls, maintenance, and meals. This fragmentation generates inefficient manual processes, frequently lost tickets, slow reimbursements that affect cash flow, and, mainly, little visibility over the real destination of the money invested. Operations managers struggle daily with the lack of control and transparency, while finance teams face difficulties reconciling expenses and generating accurate reports.

Our Solution

Ingenii centralizes all fleet payments on a smart Mastercard card with configurable rules and real-time control. Our platform offers a unified dashboard that provides complete visibility of all expenses, automatic WhatsApp notifications to keep everyone informed, and instant digital rendering that eliminates paperwork. With our system, companies gain preventive control before expenses occur, proven savings through automatic optimization, and operational simplicity that transforms fleet management.

Key Benefits for Your Company

Proven Savings

Reduce up to 30% in operating costs through intelligent expense control. Our system identifies inefficient spending patterns and optimization opportunities, allowing companies to reinvest these savings in business growth. Ingenii's algorithms continuously analyze data to suggest improvements and prevent unnecessary expenses.

Granular Control

Configure specific rules by driver, expense category, and operating hours. Define fuel limits per vehicle, geographic restrictions for tolls, and differentiated budgets based on route type. This level of personalization ensures that every dollar spent is aligned with business policies and operational objectives.

Total Visibility

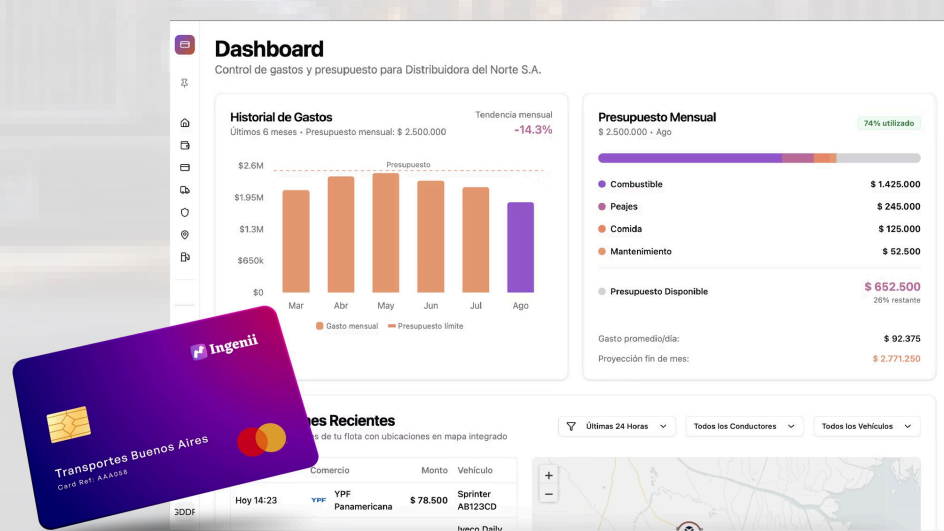

Access real-time reports through our intuitive dashboard that shows spending trends, anomaly alerts, and predictive analysis. Managers can make informed decisions based on up-to-date data, while finance teams get the information needed for budget planning and audits.

Intelligent Automation

Receive automatic notifications via WhatsApp and facilitate the uploading of receipts digitally and instantly. This integration eliminates manual processes, reduces human errors, and significantly speeds up administrative processing times, freeing up resources for higher value-added activities.

Implementation and Scalability

Solution Designed for LATAM

Ingenii is specifically developed for the unique needs and challenges of the Latin American market. Our implementation is immediate, without lengthy integration processes, and completely scalable to adapt to the growth of your fleet. From small transport companies to large multinational corporations, our platform adapts to any size of operation.

With local technical support, regional regulatory compliance, and an interface designed with Latin American users in mind, Ingenii becomes the strategic ally your company needs to optimize fleet management in the region.
